The Ashtabula County Animal Protective League (ACAPL) is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization that encourages membership within its organization. The ACAPL is not a county agency or department that is operated under the purview of the County Commissioners. Membership fees are due by January 31st of each year for membership renewal. Member must be at Least 18 years old. Membership fees paid in December shall be for membership for the following calendar year. The ACAPL holds the right to deny or revoke membership with or without cause pursuant to the duly enacted Bylaws of the ACAPL. A Member is automatically removed from being a Member of the Organization upon conviction of any criminal offense related to animal cruelty, neglect or abandonment without further proceedings. Voting Members of the ACAPL shall have the right to vote on matters before the Membership, as long as that Member has been a Member for no less than 90 days immediately prior to such vote. Voting Members may only exercise their right to vote if that Member is current on dues. Membership terms and conditions are subject to change without notice.
